GIVING DOCTOR A HEARING.
In Case Including Possible Withdrawal of License.

Burlington, July 9.—The Vermont state board of medical registration has concluded the taking of testimony in a case regarding the revocation of the license to practice of Dr. A. J. Fuller, now practicing in Swan Island, Me., formerly of Warren, this state, after his graduation from the University of Vermont in 1907.

The charges preferred against him for revocation of his license are unprofessional conduct and immorality. The petitioners in the case are two other medical men, Dr. E. J. Hickey of Warren and Dr. W. J. Howard of Waterville.
Both sides had many witnesses from Maine and Vermont and much evidence was introduced.

Dr. Fuller has for the past two years been practicing in Swan Island, Me., where he went to take up the practice of Dr. I. B. Gage, another Vermont alumnus, who was ill and unable to attend to his duties.

He was at the hearing and claimed that Fuller was guilty of violating his contract with him. That is the basis for the charge of unprofessional conduct. Before going to Swan Island, he practiced in Warren and while there, it is claimed by the petitioners he was guilty of the immorality.

The testimony in regard to the violation of the contract is conflicting. Gage claims that when in ill health he contracted with Fuller to take care of his practice and he was to relinquish it as soon as Gage was able to care for it. The latter is now well and Fuller refuses to give up the practice. Fuller on the other hand, claims that while he was doing the work, Gage violated his part of the agreement by taking a part of the practice. Action was taken in the Maine courts and Fuller was placed under bonds, but these were later removed. The matter so far as Maine goes is still in that position.

The immorality part of the story so far as the petitioners go is that Fuller has a wife and child and while living in that place is claimed to have had illicit relations with a domestic who was employed in the house. She later was brought to Burlington for medical treatment and a Burlington physician testified at the hearing that Fuller paid the bills and that he was a frequent visitor at the place where the girl was being cared for.

This evidence Fuller does not deny but he says that he owed the girl money for her services while employed in his home and that money was used to defray her expenses. The visits he explained by saying that when in Burlington he visited her for the reason that he was interested in her. The board has not yet decided which version to credit and has as yet made no decision in the case.

The petition to bring about a revocation of the license follows Fuller's application for a reciprocal license which would allow him to practice in Maine.
Following the hearing here, another will be held on August 22 before the Maine board of medical registration. Since the establishment of a state board of medical registration only three hearings have been held on a revocation of a license.

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed against R. T. Purinton, grocer, of Rutland. His creditors claim that he has absconded from the state.

The contract for the new Bennington postoffice has been awarded to C. M.
Leach of Boston, whose bid was $71,673.
The building will be of granite and marble.

Added to the numerous pests of the early summer, Brattleboro is now having visitation of quantities of elm tree beetles, which threaten to denude the trees of their foliage.

Anton Govrak, a West Rutland Pol-lander, fell from a trolley car at Rutland Saturday afternoon and was runnally, but not seriously injured. He fell face downward with terrific force.

For fishing with a spear in Rescoe lake, Ludlow, George Green of Weathersfield paid a fine of $100 and costs of $17.18. He was apprehended by Deputy Warden Ball of Ludlow, who is addition seized ten pounds of fish, a jacklight and two spears.

Rev. Andrew Harper, Jr., for the past four years rector of St. Michael's Episcopal church in Brattleboro, has resigned the pastorate, asking that he be released Sept. 30. He is now away on a two months' vacation, and his resignation was read Sunday by the lay reader.

Six thousand people attended the Fourth of July celebration at Morrisville, which consisted of a parade of floats, various sports, and a ball in the evening. The barrel of flour offered for the largest family attending the celebration was given to Charles Kneeland of North Hyde Park, who was present with his wife and eleven children.

Randolph Normal School Alumni.
A meeting of the alumni association of the Randolph State Normal school was held at Randolph Center June 27th in connection with commencement week of the Vermont state school of agriculture. Two important matters were discussed and decided by vote. First, that the Conant portrait be placed in the library of the school building and be under the care of the principal of the Vermont state school of agriculture.
Second, that the association unite with the similar association of the new school. R. Lloyd Chaffee, V. S. A., was concord wagon, to carry moving machine, horse rake, corn planter, harrow, plow, cultivator, weeder, sleigh and small tools, also 300 lbs. of wool. Farm contains 88 acres; tillage is level; good pastures and a comfortable set of buildings; house contains 3 rooms; home barn is new, clapboarded and painted; stables warm; good hog house and henry large enough for 150 hens. Price for all only $2,500.00. This property is located three miles from Plainfield.

Abiel Cheney, believed to be the oldest Civil war veteran residing in Vermont, died Saturday at his home in Concord of Bright's disease. He was 94 years old. In 1904 he attracted attention in Boston by marching in the G. A. R. reunion procession over the entire route at the age of 86 and received mention as the oldest veteran in line. Mr.
Cheney was born in Ashabula, Ohio, and removed to Waterford when 10 years old. Following the trade of his father, he became a brick and stone mason and continued his work until 1903, when he retired. On the outbreak of the Civil war in 1861, Mr. Cheney enlisted for three months in Company K, First New Hampshire, and soon after his enlistment had expired he re-enlisted in the First Vermont battery, serving under General Butler. He took part in over 17 battles but was never injured. After the war he lived at St. Johnsbury and 35 years ago moved to Concord.

GEORGE J. COOK.

Was Native of Waits River But Had Lived in Orange Long Time.
Orange, July 9.—The death of George J.
Cook yesterday morning removed a man always active in public life, who had held office of the town officers the people could bestow upon a worthy citizen, including those of selectman, constable and overseer of the poor, and once he represented the town in the legislature.
Mr. Cook was born in Waits River and had reached the age of 78 years, one month and 28 days. The immediate cause of his death was a shock, which he suffered about twelve hours before his death. His wife died some time ago and he had made his home with his only child, Ed Cook, where his death occurred.
A prayer service will be held from the Cook home to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, followed by the funeral from the Congregational church at Orange Center at 2 p. m.

Mr. Cook was a farmer by occupation and had spent practically the whole of his life here, being highly respected. He will be greatly missed in the community.

IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Prices on All Products Show But Little Change.

Boston, July 8.—The local butter market does not change much. Business does not show the snap that the dealers like to see and, with supplies heavy, the market cannot be said to be any more than steady. A fairly good jobbing trade is reported, but big buyers for some reason seem to believe that present prices will not hold and consequently they are going pretty carefully. There is little doubt that much butter is going into cold storage on receivers' accounts.
The primary cheese markets are easier and local dealers find some trouble in maintaining even the lower prices established last week. Supplies of hennery and nearby eggs are steadily diminishing, while wants are increasing on account of the poor quality of the western offerings; the result is a strong market for the native product.

Jobbing quotations:
Butter—Fancy northern, creamery,

FARM HELP SCARCE.

Farmers in Northwestern Vermont Are Seriously Handicapped.

Swanton Center, July 9.—Several farmers of this vicinity have begun having by mowing the roadsides and waste places, and all are getting ready for the general hay season. Some meadows will yield a heavy crop of excellent quality and fully up to the bumper crop of last year, while others are reported to be lighter in quantity. Except in some of the newly seeded fields Timothy is generally yellow and free from white daisies.

Additional help is about impossible to secure at any price and it is said that the labor problem grows harder to solve each year.

Why Some Men Fail.

A woman contributor to the July Woman's Home Companion, in the course of an article on "The Country of Our Dreams," makes the following statements:

"Wherever there is a man who is a failure, look, and there you will generally find not far from him in his life some girl or a woman who was selfish. I could show you many such, who, giving no large service themselves, prevent suc-cessfulness in the lives of the men they influence: extravagant women, ambitious women, emotional and nervous women, selfish women, who actually hinder men from giving the larger service."

"To put down personal selfishness, to go cheerfully about our tasks, to forget our own good in striving for the many, to deal justly and reverently with the men we know—you may call these humble ways, but they are a woman's ways of patriotism, such patriotism as shall at last mold for us, as I think neither votes for women nor any other agency can, quite so potentially, the country of our dreams."

Brief Decisions.

An afterthought is too late if opportunity has been lost.

While a man is whining about his troubles, he might overcome them.
